

Overall I can say that I am very satisfied with the way you handled our class. I really appreciated that you were always honest and realistic about the topics we discussed and how we can handle them best. Even though I was a bit sceptic in the beginning regarding the industrialization it turned out to be a very useful introduction into the topic to understand the way things work and why they are the way they are. Moreover, I really liked discussing current topics and the case studies, to get an idea of what can be done or which actions are more questionable than sustainable. And also thanks for agreeing to deepen the topic of my request on how to implement changes for sustainable actions. It really helped to understand what to focus on and what I can do and how.

Even though you outlined that working in a department like Corporate Social Responsibility will be challenging and can be frustrating as well, I am still curious to find out and will accept this challenge. Actually I just had a further interview for the internship and got the acceptance today. So we will see if I am capable enough to deal with it, especially mentally or if I will be too depressed afterwards.

But due to this class, I think I am prepared to approach the tasks in a realistic way and will do my best to focus especially on good communication with the different departments and stakeholders. So thank you so much for that! It was really a pleasure to take part in this class and I enjoyed our discussions and of course to get to know you!

Thank you for making this my favorite class I've ever been a part of. I genuinely learned more in this 3 week course than any other semester long course I've taken. Learning about the institutions and systems and how they are all intertwined together has been eye opening. I really can't put into words how life changing this course has been for me. The exchange of cultures with the Germans and learning about their society has restored my faith in humanity at a time when living in the US can seem like everything is going in the wrong direction. I'm so thankful for your time and investment in our class and I will never forget all the things I learned here in Osnabruck.

Even before the ISU started, I was already interested in the topic of our specialization. But actually, I thought this would be a superficial kind of lecture. Happily, I got disabused by having interesting and profound discussions within the group. I am thankful to not just have spoken about CSR& S but also all of the background which I think wouldn't have been discussed in a usual kind of lecture we are used to in our economy and educational system. The exchange of information with the American students was quite interesting as well which passed over to a great time with them. I also enjoyed the easy handling with you as our professor because I assume this to be a much better way to educate ourselves than within the common way of universities, lectures and exams.

To sum up, I liked the open- minded discussions we had and the time we spent together. I will recommend the ISU, especially CSR& S to other students and keep these three weeks in my mind joyfully and with lots of information to remember.

Thank you for this very interesting class. I really enjoyed the topic CSR & S in general but also the specific discussions we had. It was always a very pleasant atmosphere, and I took a lot of knowledge out of this class.

The other two international students made the class even more interesting. However, it would have been fun a well with even more internationals.

I would always do it again and recommend this class to friends!
