GOOD TO KNOW

Target Group and Requirements
2nd or 3rd Bachelor students studying Food Science, Food Technology or related fields and with a study competence in English (B1-Level of the Common European Framework of References for Languages CEFR).

Accommodation
We will arrange an accommodation for you in Osnabrück.

Admission and Application
The number of students per course is limited. Please note that a course will not be offered if fewer than 15 students apply. Applications are accepted between February 3, 2020 and April 3, 2020 (deadline). You will receive the Letter of Acceptance by April 29, 2020 at the latest.

The following documents will have to be submitted then:
• short CV
• Transcript of records
• proof of English competence (at least B1-Level of the Common European Framework of References for Languages CEFR)

Fees (1,850.00 Euros)
Not included
• your meals
• optional weekend trip to Amsterdam (30 Euros) and Paris (approx. 300 Euros)
• travel and visa expenses
• health, accident or liability insurance

Tuition fees for students from partner universities on request. The fee is due May 8, 2020, in case you are accepted for the program.

---

WEEK | MONDAY | TUESDAY | WEDNESDAY | THURSDAY | FRIDAY | SATURDAY | SUNDAY
---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---
ARRIVAL WEEK | | | | | | |

WEEK 1 | | | | | |

- Dive into the world of the application of sustainability, automation and micro-organism in the food processing sector.
- On Focus: growing trend of new food technologies: extrusion, high pressure processing, high pressure homogenisation, pulsed electric fields.
- Scientific English / German Language
- Visit of DIL (German Institute of Food Technologies)
- Scientific English / German Language

WEEK 2 | | | | | |

- Understand the correct collection, analysis and processing of data.
- Company visit
- Scientific English / German Language
- Scientific English / German Language

WEEK 3 | | | | | |

- When do we talk about Novel Food? What does the European law say? Find out more here!
- Preparation Presentation
- Student Presentations
- Exam, Farewell and Evaluation
- Optional Trip to Paris

Leisure activities:
- e.g. beach volleyball, yoga, BSC botanical garden: from cocoa to chocolate, swimming...