

The key objective of the 18-months training course is to qualify higher education managers responsible for coordinating international activities of Ukrainian universities.

This course has been developed by the International Office of Leibniz University Hannover within the DAAD Programme "Support for the internationalisation of Ukrainian higher education institutions". It is designed to provide participants with the profound knowledge of the different aspects of internationalisation and to enable them to manage the corresponding processes and tasks as well as foster the internationalisation of their universities.

The participants will learn about the concepts and strategies of internationalisation of higher education in different countries; will compare German and Ukrainian systems as well as university structures. They will learn how to handle all aspects of academic mobility and research cooperation and also how to develop and implement a suitable strategy of internationalisation. They will also conduct an individual project from the field of internationalisation, which is relevant to their home university.

The programme provides an insight into the available funding instruments for international cooperation with on-site-visits of Volkswagen Foundation, Alexander von Humboldt-Foundation, HRK, DAAD, DFG as well as short internships at selected institutions. The German-Ukrainian Academic Society e.V. as well as the Science Management Network support the realisation of the programme and provide guidance for individual projects as well as assistance in internship placements and networking activities and contacts.
