

Corona virus update | Current information e-mail to students of Osnabrück University of Applied Sciences, Wednesday, April 1st, 2020

Dear Students,

again in the middle of the week, we would like to pass on important information to you:

Today, the federal and state governments have extended the curfews have been extended until April 19th, 2020. Even though the regulations for the federal state of Niedersachsen and specifically for the districts of Osnabrück and Lingen have not yet been published, we feel it is not realistic to think that we can resume our normal university life on April 20th, 2020. Our Vice-President for Study and Teaching, Prof. Dr. Alexander Schmeemann, together with the academic deans is very busy in figuring our practical solutions for our university. We will inform you in more detail on how we will continue to offer you classes on Wednesday of next week at the latest.

Today's topics:

No classes during the week before Easter

There will be no online classes during the week before the Easter Holidays (April 6th until the 9th).

Students meet with Vice Presidents Schmeemann, Ickerott, and the Office of the University Registrar On Tuesday, roundabout 30 student representatives met with the two vice presidents and the Office of the University Registrar to discuss their questions regarding study and teaching in times of the corona crisis. The next meeting will take place after the Easter Holidays.

And again today, we would like to recommend a musical piece to you:

Alina Sebastian (specialization: pop producing), Sören Wiegmann (specialization pop guitar) and Jonas Vallan (specialization pop drums) are your fellow students from our Institute of Music. Here's what they have to say about their song "Don't touch me": "We are studying at the Institute of Music and have found the time to write a song and make a little video during the corona crisis. It shows how our rehearsals have to be held at the moment. We hope it will make you smile as one should not lose their humor during these times." Interested? Here is the link:
